2025 APC National Specialty Breed Judging Critique – Danny Seymour

Judging the 2025 American Pointer Club, National Specialty was an honor as well as an enjoyable assignment. The committee provided a wonderful venue for a well-run event which started out a little rainy and chilly but ended with sun and warmer temperatures.

As I said in my remarks at the awards banquet, I have never looked upon this event as a National Specialty for competition only, but as our annual national conference where we could converse with friends, observe various lines and breeding stock and discuss pedigrees. At one time the event offered breeder and health education and provided the opportunity for open dialogue and discussion which benefited all of us. I believe very strongly we need those programs again not only at the national level but encourage our regional clubs to do the same.

While some aspects of our breeds' conformation were very good, three areas need improvement. Fronts, backline and tails. To improve these areas, we must study canine anatomy. We need to understand why shoulders are straight and lack proper layback, why the backline has ridges and/or a raised spine and/or are too long and what causes incorrect tail placement, shape, and carriage?

Our standard has not changed for fifty years but within the last ten years our breed has, as mentioned above. As breeders, we are the stewards of our breed and should strive to breed Pointers based upon the written standard and not how we individually perceive it because we must remain steadfast to what the breed was bred to do.

The Pointer is bred primarily for sport afield; he should unmistakably look and act the part. He should be dignified and should never show timidity toward man or dog. For those who were part of the gallery and observed as I did, we had a few dogs with poor temperaments that either coward on approach or moved with low or clamped tails. All affecting movement as well as temperament. This too is of great concern.

As I approach my 51st year in the breed I am both optimistic and hopeful we can strive to maintain the integrity of the breed through education, observation and constructive conversation!

Thank you all for this lifetime honor!

Danny D. Seymour

BEST OF BREED

Although there is no perfect Pointer, to me, this bitch, exemplifies as close to the standard as possible. I was surprised to learn she is almost seven years old, in excellent condition, in beautiful coat and performed tirelessly.

Her head is correct with lovely parallel planes with equal balance in width of skull to length of muzzle, with beautiful chiseling and proper dark round eyes with correct pigmentation. She has wonderful depth of flews, and her muzzle is as if they were an artistes' rendering. Her expression is soft, feminine, and inviting and each time I looked into her face she captured me with that warm Pointer smile!

She has beautiful curves and angles as you observe from her neck, going smoothly into her shoulders to a level back of proper length flowing to a slightly declining croup to a tail of proper set, shape and one of few who had the slashing movement in rhythm and balance.

This bitch never let up from the second she entered the ring until the very end. Her movement is fluid with adequate reach and drive with powerful hind quarters that supports her front. Her temperament is what we all strive for in our breed and her overall balance projects what she was bred to do. The constant wagging tail and happy attitude was wonderful!

Finally, let me commend her handler for a wonderful presentation and listening carefully to instructions of "moderate" speed as the dog moves flawlessly on her own and is a great ambassador for the breed.

BEST OF OPPOSITE SEX

A handsome, masculine dog with a presence of dignity and stamina who looked like he could do a hard, full day's work in the field. He too had the proper width and length of skull and nice expression with dark round eyes, genuinely nice planes with a very nice, sculptured muzzle. When observing the dog set up, he made a pleasant picture with nice, muscular neck with just enough curve which flowed into adequate shoulders that I would have liked to see a little better lay back but did not deter his movement or to move him forward. I liked his level, short back with proper length of loin and muscular upper and lower thighs which help provide the rear propelling movement. Tail placement and shape were fine with adequate carriage. He was in incredibly hard body and wonderful coat condition.

This dog, like BOB, never let down, covered ground, had nice temperament and was presented at proper speed and handling.

BEST OF WINNERS

See Winners Bitch

SELECT DOG

A striking, impressive dog who possessed a nice head with adequate width and length of skull, nice round dark eyes, correct furrow, and nice planes. I would like to see just a little more depth and sculpture in the muzzle but it did not prevent from moving him forward. He had leather thin ears that were properly set.

He has adequate proportions of upper arm to shoulder and layback, a nice arch of neck that flowed nicely into his laid-back shoulders. His back was level and would prefer just a shorter length in body. The croup was fine and rear quarters adequate in the development of both upper and lower thighs. The tail was fine but would like to have seen a little more slashing when he moved. Movement was fine, covered ground and was in nice condition and beautifully presented.

SELECT BITCH

Eye catching, striking, balanced, symmetry, steady…. several adjectives to describe this solid black bitch as she was impressive from beginning to end. From nose to tip of tail I had no difficulty observing her and going over her proved what I saw was exactly what she had. Lovely, well-balanced head having good plains, length and chiseling of muzzle. Her expression was serious and business like but not threatening. She possessed a nice front with adequate let down of chest without being too wide and having adequate sprung ribs. She possessed nice symmetry and angles from her neck to tail, back correct, not too long, croup fine and tail placement, shape, and carriage good. When she moved all parts were in unison, possessing the stamina, compactness, and drive of a determined Pointer in the field!

AWARDS OF MERIT

#108 - O/W Bitch – Very nice bitch, well balanced, steady mover, lovely expression in good condition.

- O/W Veteran Bitch – A very nice, well-balanced bitch who had a wonderful expression with proper length and depth of planes and muzzle and was in terrific condition and moved like a youngster!

68 - Field Trial Bitch - This compact, well-balanced bitch "owned" the ring and dared to be denied. She was in great shape, well-muscled and covered ground without a fault in step and I had no doubt she could do a full day's work in the field.

- See Winners Dog

6-9 Puppy Dog

#41 – B/W Dog having nice parallel planes, dark round eyes with nice expression, body good, proper tail carriage and moved with ample rear and front drive.

#21 – O/W Dog was little, short in muzzle and long in the back and carried his tail high and curved. Pleasing expression.

9-12 Puppy Dog

7 -Solid Orange / Puppy Dog who my eye went to immediately in the line-up. Well balanced dog, in good condition and once under control moved with proper rear and front drive, proper tail placement, shape and carriage. (See also Winners Dog)

#43 – O/W Nice balanced dog with good back and proper length of loin. Movement good and would like to see a little longer length of muzzle.

#5 – B/W Had a nice expression but was short in muzzle and proportions of width to length of skull. Proportions of upper elbow to shoulder blades presented straight shoulders that when moved lacked proper reach and drive. I would like to see a shorter back and better overall movement.

#25 – Pleasing expression, short on muzzle, shoulder width and layback all right but spine was raised preventing a level back. I would like to have seen shorter hocks and tail carried too high.

15-18 Month Puppy Dog

#45 – L/W Dog with pleasant head piece with nice let down, sculptured muzzle. Better layback of shoulders would have improved front reach and drive movement, and shorter loin would have improved rear drive as well. Tail carriage was good.

Amateur Owner Handler Dog

#47 – O/W Dog who was overall a nice balanced dog with correct topline and slight rise from croup to shoulders, would have preferred a better shape tail as it was a little thick. Carriage was fine and I would have preferred a little more reach and drive but attribute movement to handler.

Bred By Exhibitor Dog

#19 B/W Dog overall was a nice dog, but shoulders could have laid back better which impeded his reach and drive, a shorter back would have improved both balance and his rear drive.

American Bred Dog

#59 – O/W Dog possessing a pleasant head with nice slight curve in his neck. The topline contained too many ridges preventing a symmetrical, slight rise of the topline with correct curves. He had difficulty managing his hocks which prevented proper rear placement and action.

Open Dog

#63 – B/W Dog who had a pleasing expression, but overall appearance lacks quality of balance, curves and symmetry with a low croup and tail that was “ropy” in shape. Overall movement lacked proper reach and drive.

#31 – O/W Dog with a head that was adequate in proportions of skull to muzzle and parallel planes, but body lacked proper layback, presenting straight shoulders. His back was slightly ridged, and his tail carriage was very high.

Winners Dog:

#7 Solid Orange from the 9-12 Puppy Dog

(In the Winners Dog class, this dog moved more steadily with better front and rear extension.)

He has a beautiful headpiece that contains equal width of skull to length of muzzle with proper planes. Very nice chiseling and proper depth and shape of muzzle. Nice leather thin ears, set at the proper level. Well let down in front without chest being too close to elbows. His upper and lower thighs were well developed, and his hocks were of proper length. Good tail placement, shape, and carriage. The expression on this dog is one of a happy, alert, inquisitive Pointer having wonderful temperament and expressions which make you smile!

He is a young dog with a well-defined gait and movement, exhibiting the traits of a Pointer capable of performing its intended functions. It was a pleasure to judge a solid orange Pointer with many breed qualities.

Reserve Winners Dog

In the Reserve Winners Dog class , this dog continued to move and present himself as well-balanced, in proper condition and coat to earn RWD.

9-12 PUPPY BITCH

#16 B/W Nice bitch overall, with a pretty head and expression having proper proportions of width of skull to length of muzzle with a slight dish. Nice layback of shoulders with proper length of back with good tail placement and carriage. Movement is good.

#14 B/W Would like to see more length of muzzle. Nice arch of neck flowing into proper shoulders. Would like to see shorter back. Nice upper and lower thighs. Movement was ok.

#20 AB

AMATEUR OWNER HANDLER

#48 Sheis a pretty bitch having a nice head with good planes and ear set and she had a nice neck flowing into good layback of shoulders with a nice back with a moderate length of loin. Unfortunately, the bitch was not comfortable being examined. With a little extra time and some gentle encouragement, she was examined and moved ok but not as well as if she were more relaxed and happier. Her handler understood that greater socialization should improve her temperament.

BRED BY EXHIBITOR ADULT BITCH

#52 L/W Lovely, feminine bitch with a nice headpiece with proper proportions and nice planes with nice furrow between her ice and pretty chiseling of cheeks and adequate length of muzzle. I would like to see a little narrower front and shorter length of body but it did not hinder her from moving on. She was balanced with lovely curves and symmetry. Tail was proper in placement, shape, and carriage. The more she moved the better she became, was more settled and covered adequate ground.

#22 A lovely bitch with wonderful temperament and a nice head piece with proper proportions of skull, muzzle, and dark, round eyes. Adequate length of planes and adequate length of arch in neck with proper level and length of back with a nice moderate length of loin. Hind quarters ok and her movement was fine, but narrower in front which impacted her movement.

#54 B/W Beautiful bitch who exuded femininity in all respects. Lovely headpiece containing all the proper elements; equal width of skull to length of muzzle, nice dark round eyes, proper ear set and nice chiseled planes and cheeks. Proper arch of neck flowing into good laid-back shoulders, back level with slight slope at croup and ending with proper tail placement and shape. Regrettably, her tail remained lowered, indicating her unhappiness, which subsequently impacted her overall movement. Despite her handler's excellent presentation, she did not advance.

#50 Unfortunately, this bitch's temperament impacted her in several separate ways; causing her topline to roach, pulling her rear down and forward, tail clamped between her legs, and her movement was hampered. Her attractive head features could not compensate for her temperament.

Open Bitch

#56 O/W Headpiece with a short, dished muzzle, proportions of skull to muzzle could have been better. The proportions of upper arm to upper shoulder impacted her layback of shoulder causing a rough appearance as well as inadequate reach and drive while moving. Her croup could have been lower and her tail shape could have been better flowing to a fine point. She lacked rear angles. Her temperament was fine.

Winners Bitch

#52 earned the win in this class, by displaying several breed standard qualities and settling into herself with good rear propulsion and front reach and drive. Her attitude, movement and lovely style continued all the way through BOB.

Veteran Dog 7-9 years

#65 O/W Nice dog with nice parallel planes and nice eyes and pigmentation. Good layback of shoulders, proper length of back, well-muscled dog in good condition and moved well except for tail carried a little too high.

#35 B/W Head piece slightly dished with some nice chiseling. Back skull was a little too wide. Shoulders could have been narrower. Nice moderate loin. Moved alright.

Veteran Dog 9-11 years

#73 B/W Nice head with good planes. Nice arch in neck that went into shoulders which were ok but could have been laid back more. Back fine with nice moderate loin. Nice mover for his age.

Veteran Dog 11 + years

#37 O/W Wonderful shape and condition for a dog almost 13 years old! Nice expression, wonderful temperament and moved pretty good!

Field Trial Dog

#67 O/W Happy, outgoing short loin and well muscled dog. Back could have been more level, slightly roached and croup was low. Movement was ok.

Veteran Bitch 7-9 years

#38 O/W Very nice compact bitch with pleasing head with proper proportions. Nice slightly arched neck which flowed into well laid-back shoulders with level back with good rib spring and well developed upper and lower thighs. Wonderful temperament and covered ground effortlessly with nice reach and drive,

#42 Black Very nice head piece with proper proportions and good dark round eye. She was in very good condition, possessed a nice topline, rear quarters were strong with nice upper and lower thighs. Moved well.

#53 B/W Had a pretty head with nice expression and proper level planes. Her neck flowed gently into her shoulders and back and hind quarters were good. Her tail could have been shorter and she carried it too low.

#40 B/W Overall a pretty bitch, slight arch in neck flowed into good shoulders, back ok and croup and rear ok as well but she carried her tail below the level of the back.

Veteran Bitch 9-11 years

#46 Nice bitch in very good condition, moved well for her age and was able to cover ground. She has a nice head with pleasing expression as well as nice temperament. She looked as if she could still do a good days work in the field.

#30 B/W Would have like to see a little more depth in muzzle, less width in ribs and shorter in body. Her movement was ok.

Veteran Bitch 11 years +

#44 Nice veteran bitch with a pretty head piece, was in excellent condition and moved like a puppy!

Hunting Bitch

#64 L/W Pretty head piece with a nice neck which flowed into good laid back shoulders. Would like to have seen a slightly lowered croup and stronger lower thighs.

Field Bitch

#68 O/W Very nice bitch with a pretty head with nice proportions and definition. Very nice planes, good muzzle and just enough let down to provide a pleasing side profile as well. She has a nice topline with level back and correct rear. Well developed upper and lower thighs and proper length of hocks. She exuded energy, covered ground effortlessly, possessed a great temperament and challenged herself to be denied!

Brood Bitch

#42 A lovely group of get that exemplified the dam. Consistent in type, conformation, and movement. Lovely to look at and lovely to see this group move!

#62 A nice group with similarities of the dam in the get. Overall conformation, movement, and temperament were good.

#104 A group with notable similarities to the dam. The overall conformation was good; the temperaments were particularly good and tail carriage on both get was too high.

Generations Class

#30 A nice group representing the generations. Consistent in type, conformation, and movement each with distinct individual attributes without losing the qualities within the pedigree.

#62 A pleasing group which was apparent to see similarities of the generations and observe them in type, style, and conformation with each having distinct movement.

2025 APC National Specialty Futurity Judging Critique Suzzanne Bambule

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to judge the 2025 Futurity and Maturity; special thanks to those who were able to enter their lovely dogs. Although the entry was small, there were some high-quality dogs. My Futurity winner was a very well-balanced liver dog, put together nicely for his age. He has very effortless movement with nice front, clean extension. His profile is very pleasing with good length of muzzle. He has correct topline and tail set, but I would like to see him a tad shorter in the loin. His underline is also a positive for him. The first place dog from the puppy class exhibited was a compact, powerful dog with beautiful neck and shoulders; he was a series of curves. As he went through the weekend, he gained more composure on the go around and more sure footing on the going away.

Thank you again, I thoroughly love judging and the breed!

2025 APC National Specialty Sweepstakes Judging Critique – Hayley Thompson

It was a pleasure to serve as a judge for the 2025 American Pointer Club National Specialty; thank you for the opportunity and for everyone who brought such beautiful puppies and veterans. The quality of the entry was very deep; the greatest challenge was choosing the order amongst the lovely entries and being sorry that more ribbons were not available or that very nice Pointers were awarded lower in classes when they were themselves specials quality but were in a class full of specials quality Pointers. The entries in classes and in the final line up were often of nearly equal overall quality which made the final order sometimes difficult especially as I can appreciate the various forms that our breed standard allows due to that variety being equally able to support the function of the breed.

As a breeder, almost the entire entry was at a level that I would be content to have in the show ring representing my own kennel. The Pointers shown were, overall, excellent, and every single entry was a beautiful animal.

I judged each dog as a whole and did not throw out dogs based on specific faults; the dogs were ordered based on their overall merits, the combined value of their most positive traits, with no fault-finding endeavor that would lead to throwing away the overall better, higher quality Pointer for a specific fault. Fault finding is poor judging and even worse in a breeding program as going forward with mediocre dogs with less holes instead of a superior overall animal with a specific "pet peeve" fault damages the overall advancement of the breed. I also judged the Pointers on how they looked on the day; I could only fairly judge these dogs on how they looked on this day in that moment in the ring not how I remembered a dog looking in the past or how I imagined a dog may (or may not) look in the future.

The breed as a whole has improved significantly in the area of movement; breeders should be commended for giving this necessary component of a good working dog its due consideration in selection of what dogs continue in the gene pool. Though some dogs covered more ground than others, the vast majority of the entry was sound, smooth, and moved relatively well; this meant that judging had to focus more on other nuances of type since only a small number of dogs were out of contention for top awards based on movement. There were only a handful of pinched and restricted fronts, a few who hackneyed, a few cow-hocked dogs; and just a small number of dogs with segmented, swayed, or roached toplines on the move.

The majority of the Pointers had good head planes, including some with dish, but there were still several which were downfaced/dropped off in the backskull; for those watching the judging, head planes is why I leaned down to look closely at the head profile of every single entry. Head planes are essential in Pointer type and are the starting point for evaluating a Pointer's head; a Pointer head does not have proper type if it does not have parallel planes (think brick-on-brick) with or without a dish. The Pointer is meant to gallop full speed for long periods with head held high, scenting the wind while hunting which is facilitated by a head with parallel planes with or without a dish in order to most efficiently and effectively take in the scent of game in the wind. The form of the head's planes is specific to the function of the breed.

Most of the Pointers had a good approximate match between length of muzzle and width of backskull. The distinction of stop could have been deeper in the some of the entry but most had sufficient. The majority of dogs had good finish of muzzle but a few were a smidge snipey. On a few, the eyes were smaller and beadier than the eyes of ample size and rounded called for in the standard, but there were many excellent expressions.

The most consistent area in need of improvement was the tail. The tails were typically hovering around the hock (not crossing the line but continued breeding without attention could get there quickly), thicker, wavey, ropier without tapering to a fine point. Others were carried higher than desired. As the majority of the entry could have used better tails, and I judge on the whole dog not a fault-finding approach that throws out better whole dogs, dogs with less than ideal tails did incidentally end up receiving many of the awards.

As for other areas that could use some improvement: There were a number of dogs with longer and thicker than ideal ears, not the proper thin leathered, pointed ears with veins visible. Several dogs had flat toplines and croups with no slight arch or slight drop to croup; these are in the Pointer standard as part of what gives the Pointer his/her strong and lasting power and support in the extension and contraction of a gallop, the primary movement in the field. The less than ideal ears and tails, as well as the lack of stop and flat backs on several dogs, seem to be a throwback to the years prior to the mid-1990s when these breed type flaws were improved dramatically in the US but breeders seem to have unfortunately lost sight of them again in the past 5 or so years. Some dogs were not balanced, typically straight front paired with more angled rear, which may appeal to some on the stack but can hinder movement especially bringing the neck upward back into the shoulders and the front into an inefficient upward, shorter stepped lift. Most of the dogs had good depth and breadth of chest, but some were narrow and slab sided which can limit their breathing capacity and ability to last on intense, long hunts.

Though I have highlighted a few areas where there could be some improvement, again, the overall quality of the entry was excellent and having fault(s) does not mean a dog is not still very nice and, if bred, less than ideal trait(s) can be improved in the next generation. They typically moved soundly and smoothly covering decent ground without energy inefficient high lift, moved and stacked up as one piece and were balanced and of moderate length (i.e., square, slightly taller than long, or slightly longer than tall), and had good head planes. Every single entry was even tempered. Thank you for bringing your beautiful puppies and veterans.

Puppy Sweepstakes

6-9 Month Males

1st:
Balanced young puppy with appropriate angles front and rear, smooth and sound with good ground covering on the move, well carried tail, parallel planes with good muzzle length to backskull width.

2nd:
Beautiful eyes, nice tail length and taper, balanced and moderate length and size.

9-12 Month Males

1st (Best of Opposite in Puppy Sweepstakes):
Excellent dog, overall. He had good head planes, nice muzzle, and a deep stop. He had appropriate balanced angles. He was sound and covered ground very well with excellent energy conserving extension that was even, smooth, and with no inefficient lift. He had good depth and breadth of chest, with a long, well crested neck flowing smoothly into his shoulders. His bone was oval. He was a powerful dog and one piece standing and on the move.

2nd:
Sound, ground covering dog with matching appropriate angles. Moderate length and solid build in one piece. Parallel head planes. Good length of neck and depth and breadth of chest.

3rd:
Beautiful eyes, ears, nice stop, and overall expression. Nice rear.

12-18 Month Males

1st:
Sound, balanced, compact, fit dog with excellent length, shape, and carried tail and ears.

18-24 Month Males

1st:
Balanced, appropriately angled, moderate dog with a sturdy build, good depth and breadth of chest, and ground-covering movement.
2nd:
Moderate dog with length of muzzle matching backskull width, good rear, fit, and with a well carried tail.
3rd:
Beautiful eyes and deep stop. Long neck. Well angled rear and a nicely elegant, proud dog.

6-9 Month Females

1st:
Very nice young puppy. She had good head planes, adequate stop, dark eyes with soft expression, good ears and good tail shape, placement, and carriage. She had good, balanced angles. She was sound and covered ground.

9-12 Month Females

1st (Best in Puppy Sweepstakes):
She was a series of curves and one whole elegant piece standing and moving. Her dark rounded eyes, dish, flaring nostrils, deep stop, and moderate and matching length of muzzle and width of backskull made a lovely head that went into an arched neck that seamlessly flowed into her shoulders that went into her strong back with a slightly arched loin and a slight drop of croup to her tapered tail that fell well above her short hock. Her handler allowed her quality to show through in a more natural handling approach that was possible through her calm nature (not always possible with younger dogs or some enthusiastic dogs at any age!); she carried herself with head held high on an arched neck as she trotted openly, soundly, and effortlessly on a loose lead and her well put together structure also meant she easily walked into a great stack simply as a natural standing position.

12-18 Month Females

1st:
Nice ground covering, sound movement. A solid and sturdy build. Good ears and length of tail. Balanced with nice angles.

18-24 Month Females

1st
Beautiful eyes and expression. Excellent tail and very nice ears. Balanced and moderate. On the move, she was one, smooth, compact piece with solid topline with soundness and decent ground covering.

2nd:

Balanced with adequate angles, sound and smooth on the move, good ears and tail.

3rd:
Beautiful eyes. Sound with smooth side gait. Stacked up well with nice angles.

Veteran Sweepstakes

7-10 Year Males

1st (Best of Opposite in Veteran Sweepstakes):
He was sound with no inefficient lift in the front or weakness in the rear, balanced, fit, and compact. He had good ears and properly carried tail. He had beautiful eyes.

2nd:

This dog had an excellent eye, expression, and head. He was also beautiful on the stack. He had nice tail and ears. He was very showy and proud.

10+ Year Males

1st:
Beautiful head and expression, good tail, balanced, oval bone, nicely proportionate dog all around, sound and smooth on the move

2nd:
Lovely eyes and face, balanced, nice long neck, compact and stylish, nice tail

7-10 Year Females

1st (Best in Veteran Sweepstakes):
She had excellent head planes, deep stop, rounded dark eyes of ample size, and overall expression, and well set, short and thin leathered ears. She was both elegant and powerful. She had an excellently carried, short bee sting tail. She was balanced, sound, and covered ground.

2nd:
She good head planes, dark eyes, and a nice long neck. She was balanced with good angles. She had excellent depth and breadth of chest. She covered ground well and was sound, and with a properly carried tail.

3rd:
A showy girl who covered very nice ground and was sound. She had beautiful balanced angles and great breadth and chest. She carried her tail well.

4th:
She had beautiful eyes, deep stop, excellent head planes, good ears and tail, nice balanced angles, good depth and breadth of chest, sound and covered ground smoothly.

10+ Year Females

1st:
Very quality Pointer with beautiful eyes and expression, excellent head shape with good planes and stop and proportions, good balanced angles, smooth ground covering movement, and nice depth and breadth of chest.

2nd:
Really lovely eyes and face. Compact, balanced, and elegant. I learned afterwards that she was over 13 years old which makes her even more impressive.
